Hindustan Motors has today introduced an all new variant of its sedan, Mitsubishi Cedia called, Cedia Select 2012 at Rs 8.90 lakh (Ex-showroom, Delhi). The new Cedia Select 2012 has come in three colours, which include red, white and black. Although, the new variant hasn't got so many changes if compared with the existing Variant, Cedia Sport, this time it has got a 7-inch Mapmyindia android carpad that will allow the chauffeur to make calls, surf net, video chat and watch TV on the go. The all new Mitsubishi Cedia Select 2012 has also got a four-speak Kenwood DVD palyer along with 6-inch touch-sensitive screen.

The DVD player is GPS, Bluetooth and USB connectivity compatible. Rest features are all the same as the existing variant, which is priced relatively lesser than the new one, it comes at a price of Rs 8.24 Lakh (Ex-showroom, Delhi) Having equipped with the all new features, it certainly becomes more competitive now, which will help it stand against the existing players including the Honda City, Nissan Sunny, the Vento and others. Still, what might keep it behind is once again the petrol heart under the hood, as the recent sales figures have made it clear that the consumers are now moving towards the diesel variants.
